

B&R accepted for Montana healthcare system installer training and accreditation

B&R Compliance Associates has been accepted by the State of Montana's Plumbing Board for its Healthcare System Installer training and accreditation program. Montana law requires that all hospital system installers have a medical gas endorsement. This endorsement is made through Montana's Department of Labor & Industry's Business Standards Division. "We are pleased the Plumbing Board has recognized B&R's training and certifications program as acceptable for the required medical gas endorsement in that state," said Bob Sutter, vice president and chief technical officer for B&R. "B&R offers the only training and certification program for hospital bulk gas system installers open to all independent manufacturers and distributors of medical gases" The company also offers training for certification to the ASSE 6015 Professional Qualification Standard for bulk medical gas installers.

The associates at B&R Compliance have lifetimes of experience in the medical and industrial gases business. The company specializes in delivering cost-effective regulatory solutions which are a customized to suit a broad cross section of business and compliance needs.
